Salute to a great character

He's 73, but has the spirit of a man 20 years younger; he's cheeky, chirpy, sound in wind and limb, and has an accent that reeks of Paddington Green, Shepherd's Bush and jellied eels; he is also an ex-footballer. Who is he?

By Billy King

No Leicester City supporter of the 1920's onwards needs any further priming on the identity of this man, who became a Filbert Street legend, a club symbol known throughout League football and regarded with a unique affection.

ARTHUR CHANDLER, of course, more happily known as "Channy" to friends and rivals, is the man we are proud to salute in this 1969 club programme, 46 years after he descended on this town from the "Smoke", to capture the hearts and the cheers of many thousands in his adopted Midlands home.

HE HAS RETIRED, AND THE PLACE SIMPLY WILL NOT BE THE SAME.

How could it be, without one who has imparted so many thrills, so much lion-hearted endeavour and, in later times, a brand of Cockney fun always guaranteed to lift sagging spirits?

Diverse Roles

As a record-breaking centre-forward of the buccaneering type, a trainer who was a past master of "kidology" and a general factotum who was always good for a laugh at his own expense, Channy has made an incalculable contribution to the City story, from that day in June, 1923, when the late Peter Hodge so wisely snatched him away from Queen's Park Rangers, to strike out on a career packed with illustrious landmarks.

The other day he recalled for me the story of his transfer. "When Peter Hodge came for me, I was due for a £300 accrued share of benefit from the Rangers", he explained, "but Rangers could not see their way clear to pay it, so it looked as though I would stay in London.

"I was getting £6 winter wages and £4 in the close season, and when Mr. Hodge tried again, I was called into a board meeting.

"He offered me £8 and £6, and I couldn't resist such pay, so I agreed to accept £100 accrued share, and that was that". Continued on next page

On August 25th, 1923, Channy and Hughie Adcock made their joint debut, at Hull, two days later breaking into the Filbert Street scene against Stoke City. The new leader scored two and Adcock one in a smashing 5-0 triumph.

Nine Over The Top . . .

So, Arthur became the bounding spearhead of the most celebrated forward line in the club's history — Adcock, Hine, Chandler, Lochhead, Barry — and launched out on a career that was to bring him close on 300 goals.

Channy worked on the famous principle that the greater the number of shots he tried, the more he must put past the goalkeeper. He was no heading expert; he blasted them in with both feet, often slamming nine over the top or outside, for every one in the net.

October 20th, 1929, was a rare day in the Chandler saga. None other than Portsmouth, our guests that afternoon, were the luckless visitors who left here thrashed 10-0, and Channy got six of them.

It is one of the choicest tales in football how, when he had bagged five goals, five swans flew in tight formation over the ground, to be followed by a lonely lagger which had no sooner made its way across than Arthur netted his sixth!

Frank Barson's Warning

Channy collided with some of the greatest centre-halves of the game, none to be remembered more vividly than the iron man, Frank Barson. "The first time I played against Frank, we had to change ends for the kick-off, and as I passed him, he muttered, 'See here, me lad, if you try any tricks with me, you'll find yourself in the dressing room in no time at all'.

"Yet we bore no grudges", said Channy. "We were tough on the field, good friends afterwards".

His biggest disappointment was tied up with a day of triumph.

"Everton were at Filbert Street, and I needed one for my century of goals. I scored it in the first ten minutes and another 20 minutes later. The England selectors were watching, and I felt confident I would get in the side against Wales.

"Late in the game I was getting by Warney Cresswell, when he touched my shoulder and I lost balance, my studs clamping into the ground. My left leg was locked, with the result my cartilage went. I knew immediately that my chance of a cap had gone".

AFTER EIGHT WEEKS HE CARRIED ON PLAYING, WITHOUT AN OPERATION, AND "I SUGGESTED THAT BOTH MY KNEES SHOULD BE BANDAGED SO THAT THE VILLA PLAYERS WOULD NOT KNOW WHICH ONE HAD BEEN DAMAGED. I SCORED FIVE!"

Channy's stock of stories is inexhaustible. Long may he live to delight us with them.

The picture has brightened a great deal in recent weeks, with a series of five games unbeaten up to this afternoon. The run started against Bolton Wanderers with a 2—2 draw and next came that highly encouraging sequence of wins against Norwich at home, Aston Villa and Millwall away, followed by last Tuesday's drawn League Cup tie, which has ensured an early view of the team in cup football, with next Wednesday night's Second Round Replay of the League Cup tie with Bristol City.

Details of ticket arrangements for the League Cup Second Round Replay will be announced in tonight's Leicester Mercury and 'Buff' and given out over Radio Leicester.

TOPICAL TIDINGS

Mention of Portsmouth conjures up magical memories for older Leicester City fans. We have met them in two F.A. Cup semi-finals — 1933-34, when Pompey triumphed 4-1 at Birmingham, and 1949, when we turned the tables, 3-1 at Highbury.

☆ ☆ ☆

Pompey were last here on March 28th, 1959, in a First Division clash, and were beaten 3-1, having trounced us 4-1 in the first meeting at Fratton Park.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the encounter here ten years ago Jimmy Walsh opened the scoring in the 11th minute, John Ogilvie hit home a penalty after 40 minutes, R. Newman netted for Portsmouth in the 42nd minute and finally, Ken Leek finished the scoring in the 59th minute. Teams that day:

CITY: Maclaren; Chalmers, Ogilvie; Newman (J), Knapp, Keyworth; McDonald, Stephenson, Walsh, Leek, Wills.

PORTSMOUTH: Brown; Rutter, Gunter; Howells, Hayward, Dickinson; Harris (P), White, Saunders, Harris (H), Newman (R).

Referee: G. W. Pullin (Bristol). Attendance: 17,064.

☆ ☆ ☆

A new recruit to our ground staff is Jim Henshaw, from Market Bosworth, who learned the ropes at Brooksby Hall Agricultural College, and is assistant to Doug Hughes. Now supervising at our Belvoir Drive training centre is Stan Robinson.

Recently we drew attention to the fact that Peter Shilton had entered the sportswear trade. One of the most experienced businessmen on our staff is, of course, David Gibson, who has long been concerned in hairdressing, with shops at Stoney Stanton and Enderby, and three in Scotland, at the new town of Livingstone, Brockburn and his native Winchburgh.

David aims at maintaining a link with football when he has to hang up his boots, a day he means to put off as long as possible. He feels now that he would welcome the chance to keep in touch by assisting a local club and, in some way, helping players to develop their game.

Talking point is the new Filbert Street pitch, looking in better shape than ever before, and the subject of compliments in place of the brickbats so freely thrown last season!

☆ ☆ ☆

Groundsman Hughes is justifiably pleased with the results of the seeding, carried out just over three months ago. The new seed is 65 per cent rye grass, with 12 other types which will eventually form the permanent basis of the turf.

The big test will, of course, be the winter weather, and Doug would rather not have a repeat of the 1968-69 punishment.

Remember that the favourite rendezvous of Leicester sportsmen, the Fosse Bar in the main stand of this ground, is again available for functions, such as wedding receptions, club parties and so on. It offers ideal facilities, with first-class service. Make your booking now for the Christmas festivities — before it is too late. Apply to the Secretary, Leicester City F.C.

KOPITES — WE LIKE YOUR MOOD, BUT DON'T BE CRUDE!

This is a salute to the choral society of our Spion Kop, a testimony in words and pictures. Manager Frank O'Farrell has this to say: "The players are fully aware of your great backing that gives them such encouragement, not only at Filbert Street, but in a lesser degree on other grounds. Please keep it up, and when you burst into song, DON'T spoil it by being crude." Today's picture is the first of a series of YOURSELVES as the players see you, taken specially by the club photographer, Neville Chadwick.

No Place At Filbert Street For These Types

With much regret we publish the following letter, from Mr. Keith Fuller, 37, Langley Green, Langley, Norwich, to the manager of Leicester City F.C.

"As a Norwich City supporter I was appalled at the behaviour of Leicester's so-called fans, after the City v. Norwich game. They were walking about in thick leather boots and obviously looking for a fight.

"After the game my friend had his scarf pulled from his neck by about 50 fans. If this is the way your fans behave when you win, I pity other fans when you lose.

"Filbert Street is a ground I'll never visit for the rest of my life, and that goes for about 500 other Norwich fans.

"Another incident was that about ten Canaries supporters were attacked by 100 Leicester fans.

"I hope, for your sake, that this behaviour improves."

Need it be said how deeply we deplore the incidents alleged by Mr. Fuller? They bring the city of Leicester and the club into disrepute, as well as disgracing the game in general. We find it particularly objectionable that football should be the innocent cause of such behaviour.

ALL ASSOCIATED WITH LEICESTER CITY WISH TO MAKE IT CLEAR THAT THEY CANNOT TOLERATE SUCH HOOLIGANISM AND, IN FACT, FEEL THAT THE CLUB IS BETTER OFF WITHOUT SUCH FOLLOWERS.

'SOUND OFF'

Please enter your record requests by Monday for Saturday matches and by Friday for Wednesday games to Richard Thompson, Sound Off, Leicester City Football Club. All the records played on Sound Off can be obtained from BREES OF CHURCHGATE AND CHESTNUT AVENUE, OADBY: Whilst I am reading your requests Brian Wilson will be spinning the discs for me.

EARLY RISE IN CROWD FIGURES
